Mary Barnes Gives Her Version of the Murder of Mrs. Pollard.

ERRORS ON WHICH TO APPEAL.

Counsel Think There Are Enough to Warrant a New Trial.

LETTER FROM JUDGE ORGAIN.

He Replies to a Richmond Lawyer, and Holds That the Women Had Impurint Trinis Before Fair Jories-The White-Man Story.

During the discussion of the question as to whether a new trial should be Mary Abernathy and Pokey Barnes, the negro women under sentence of death for the murder of Mrs. Pollard in Lunenburg, the old woman, Mary Barnes, who is serving a ten-year sentence in the penitentiary on the charge of being an accomplice of the other womon, has been practically overlooked.

A special received by the Dispatch last night from Koysville says:

"Your correspondent visited the scene of the murder to-day, and had an interview with Mr. Pollard. When he read one of the headelines of the article in a Richmond paper saying. The murdered woman's heabard insists that there is a white man in the case, he said, that's a lie. Mr. Pollard said: 'I don't know a single white man when I could think did it. I have not the remotest idea that Mr. Thompson had anything to do with the isilling of my wife. What I did say was I supposed a white man must have planned it, as I did not think a "nigger" could. Others think the 'niggers' could have easily planned it. Public sentiment is high, and no one in this community believes the white-man story.

"The people don't heritate to say that if they ever have the opportunity they will lynch the women. They did have the opportunity on the evening Ma-A Disputch man called on her at the enftentiary yesterday, and found her industriously engaged in the shoe-shop. where she is employed clipping threads from shoes. She was taken down into the office of the prison, and the reporter had a long interview with her. When she first entered the apartment the newspaper-man greeted her with the statement that he had come to get her out. Her face brightened instantly, and, with fervent "Thank God!" she clapped her hands together. She instantly realized, however, that no such good fortune was hers just yet, and subsided.

She is an honest-looking, pleasant-She is an honest-looking, piensantspoken old darky of the antebelium type, and tells a very straight story of her connection with the tragedy, which coincides in every particular with that told by her daughter and Mary Abernathy,
THE OLD WOMAN'S STORY.

THE OLD WOMAN'S STORY.

Mary says she was at the house at noon, and was given dinner by Mrs. Pollard (Miss Lucy, as she called her). After the med she washed the dishes and made an engagement with Mrs. Pollard to go to the "meetin'-house" the next Suncise. At the suggestion of Mr. Pollard, who was sitting on the front porch, she went out into the garden to work for a while, and later on was called bagis to the house by Mr. Pollard, who wanted her to help him in the field. Mrs. Pollard had in the mean time gone on to visit a neighbor, about a haif mile distant, and her husband summoned her to the house by ringing the big heil.

This was about 4 o'clock, and after Mrs. Pollard's return to the house Mr. Pollard and the woman, who is now in the penitentiary, went out into the completed and worked. About 5 o'clock Mr. Pollard went back to the house and loaded a wegon with produce from the barn. It was not until after this had been accomplished that he discovered the dead body of his wife.

WORK OF THE ATTORNEYS.

The attorneys who have been engaged to defend the women are hard at work on the case, and have already discovered sufficient evidence to lead them to believe that a man and not the women was Marable's accomplice. It is understood that they will proceed on the hypothesis that Marable's story that a white man did the killing is correct, and it is possible will cause some agrests to be made within a

Their efforts will be concentrated toward reting a new trial, and instead of ap-liying to the Supreme Court they will appeal to Judge Samuel F. Colevan, of the Circuit Court of Lunenburg. The principal ground on which this appeal will be made is the fact that Mary Abernathy. after her conviction, made a motion for a new trial, which was overruled by Judge Orgain. The following irregularities, which appear in the record of the trials, will also be used as arguments in favor of a new trial:

Jury, when adjourned over, was placed in the charge of deputies, who should have been instructed not to let the jurymen dis-

if troops would be sent upon the application of the Sheriff, if deemed necessary by that officer.

This letter was not intended, and was in no way a call upon the Governor for troops. The statement, therefore, of "Eminent Lawyer" that I "joined in the application to the Governor for troops, centifying that the law-abiding prople of the county would be unable to prevent the lynching of the defendants, even before the trial commenced," is without foundation in fact. At no time—before the trial commenced," is without foundation in fact. At no time—before the trial commenced," is without foundation in fact. At no time—before the trial commenced, is without foundation in fact. At no time—before the trial commenced, is without foundation in fact. At no time—before the trial cover asked the Covernor for troops in these cases, or any other. If "Eminent Lawyer" will turn to the 25th section of Code of Virginia, 1887, he will see that the Sheriff is the officer designated by law to call for troops in such cases, and I repeat that the Sheriff of Lunenburg alone called for and obtained the troops from the Governor. In this connection I append a letter of the Sheriff, which explains Meelf.

AS TO CHANGE OF VENUE. The fact that Marable, who is unques-tionably an ignorant durky, went to Chuse City and there malied a registered letter back to himself at Finneywood, thus reating an excuse, should any question a to his having morey in his possession, a raised, strengthens the lawyers' opition that a white man was converned in the case. They do not believe that the negro could fave conceived any such plan. The letter was received at Finneywood, and was by the postmaster, Mr. David Thompson, currendered to the authorities on demand. It had previously been opened and seated, and this in itself is supposed to a strong clue toward the perpetrator of a crima, as it is thought the person who opened the letter knows something of the murder, and bloked into the letter for the purpose of scaling whether Marable had obeyed instructions and malled himself $5. At least that is the presumption plains itself,

AS TO CHANGE OF VENUE,

As to the charge made by "Eminent Lawyer" that "these negroes should have been granted a change of venue." &c., before quoted, the facts are these: On Saturday, the lith of July, when Mary Abernathy was arraigned for trial, she was asked If she had counsel. She said she did not. I adjourned court until Monday morning, the 15th of July, to enable her to procure counsel, as she stated that she thought she could procure counsel by that time. On Monday, the 15th of July, when the case of Mary Abernathy was called, ex-Judge W. H. Perry, of Lunenburg, arose and stated to the Court that he had been specien to to detend the prisoner, and said he had two motions to make-one was for leave to file an affidavit on the part of the prisoner that the county, she could not get a full title. The other metion, he said, was for a jusy to be summoned from another. of many people.

them every possible opportunity to prove their innocence. But the ex-citement in the community was intense, and there is a general apprehension that citement in the community was intense, and there is a general apprehension that the juries were unconsciously influenced by public sentiment in the county.

White people, as well as the negroes, are manifusting sympathy for the women. Several gentiemen have offered to contribute to a fund to meet the expenses of a new trial, and a prominent Richmond banker, now away on his vacation, has written that he will give £5. The prevailing impression that an appeal cannot be taken after a prisoner has been sentenced and the court adjourned seems to be erroneous. A prominent jurist told a Dispatch reporter yesterday that errors in a record, like those to which reference has been made above, are ample ground upon which to take a case up, and a reviewing court can then decide whether there should be a new trial.

A case something like this one occurred in Franklin county some years ago. Four persons were convicted of arsen and sentenced to suffer death. After sentence had been passed one of the four exployed

CASE NOT MADE OUT.

The prisoner, although represented by able counsel, utterly failed to make out a case for a change of venue, totally failed to support the affidavit by evidence, but on the contrast, proved by her own witnesses that she could get a fair trial and impartial jury in the county of Lunenburg. In overruing the motion for a change of venue upon such a state of facts the trial court simply followed the rollings of the highest court of this State in more than one case, and if the gentleman who wrote the communication to the Star is the "eminent lawyer" that paper says he is he ought to be aware of the fact.

The other three were hanged before the appeal was heard, and the upper court, in rendering its opinion, declared that the evidence had not been sufficient to warrant the conviction of any of the four.

Don't Believe the White-Man Story.

A special received by the Dispatch last night from Keyaville says:

"Your correspondent visited the scene of the murder to-day, and had an interview with Mr. Pollard. When he read one of the head-lines of the article in a Richmond paper saying. COMPOSED OF GOOD, MEN.

I will add that the jury in each of these cases was composed of as good men as can be found in any county in the State, and each jury contained men of color, selected by the Coust for their characters and intellisence. Upon the jury that tried Poky Barnes there were two colored men, and upon the jury that tried Many Abernathy there were four colored men, "An Emiment Lawyer" in the aforesaid communication also uses this language. "Out of the first venire in a community wild with excitement a jury was obtained. Counsel who had been assigned to defend the two women.—Poky Barnes and Mary Abernathy—retired from the case as soon as the Judge refused to order the change of venue, because he knew that there was to be no trial there."

In answer to this misstatement of facts. I have to state that no counsel was assigned the prisoners, for the reason that the Court was unable to get any lawyer to defend them, although the Court requested the only two attorneys who were present to do so, but both declined. Judge Perry, who made the application for a change of venue, as already stated, declined to appear further in the case because, as he statted in open court, the prisoner failed to arrange the payment of his fee, and not, as stated by "an Eminent Lawyer." "because he knew that there was to be no trial there." As to the "venire obtained in a community wild with excitement," I am afraid "an Eminent Lawyer," has allowed his own "wild excitement." to color and distort his view of these cases, and if he is indeed "an eminent lawyer," upon a calm review of the facts in the case will, I trust, reach as the stated and more distantians and the law are sensed to and more distantians cannot be took here exceeded and more distantians cannot be took have a law are and a calm review of the facts in the case will, I trust, reach they will lynch the women. They did have the opportunity on the evening Ma-rable was caught to lynch all of them. and would have done so, but for the per-suasion of the Commonwealth's Attor-ncy. Right here let me say that your correspondent was present, and Lucius Pettus could have had the negroes lynch-Petrus could have had the negroes lynched then, had he so desired, as he was

LEATHER AND SHOE MARKET.

THE SHERIFF'S OPINION.
On reaching the county of Lunenburg a few days thereafter, in a conference between myself, Sheriff Cardozo, and W. E. Neblett, Commonwealth's Attorney of Linenburg, the Sheriff stated that in his opinion it would be necessary to have troops during the trial of these prizoners, as he believed it would be unsafe to bring the prisoners here to be tried without a military guard. The Sheriff also stated that he was going to Richmond the next day to see the Governor to ascertain from him whether troops would be furnished the Sheriff of Lunenburg upon his application, if necessary.

Mr. Neblett then said he would draw up a letter to the Governor informing him of the murder and the state of feeling in the county near the seene of the nurder; that the sheriff of Lunenburg would call upon him and state the condition of things with a view of ascertaining whether the Governor would send troops upon the call of the Sheriff, if they should be found necessary. The Sheriff requested me to sign this letter to the Governor, along with the Attorney for the Commonwealth, simply to apprise the Governor of the fact that the Sheriff would call upon him to know if troops would be sent upon the application of the Sheriff, if deemed necessary by that officer.

This letter was not intended, and was Although Prices Continue Stiff, the Trade Continues Very Active.

The leather, boot, and shoe market is still very active, and our merchants are busy filling fall and "filling-in" orders for buyers who have accepted the situation and who are most willingly paying the advanced prices. The Richmond dealers are not getting the full advance; they have not asked it; but they can hardly continue this policy, as stocks are diminishing daily, and it is impossibly to replace goods at this time. It will be months before regular stocks can be made up.

A report from the Department of Agriculture gives the information that the number of cattle in the United States decreased 2,225,723 head in 184. There are now about as many as there were in 1889, when leather boots and shoes were higher than they are now. Since that time the population of this country has increased 12,09,000; consequently there is greater demand for leather and higher prices are charged for footwear. The world will be 1,000,000 hides short this year. The leather market alone is doing a large volume of business, and those who have stocks on hand find no trouble in placing it with ready, anxious buyers. Hemiock leather advanced last Tuesday I cent ser pound, and higher prices are steadily looked for.

Boots and shoes are as active as leather, and buyers who have returned from the northern and western markets say most of the manufacturers have resumed operations, and are making up goods as qusckly as possible, owing to the fact that Jobbers have accepted the situation and are placing orders at advanced prices. There is a great demand for ready shoes.

Rubbers have begun to move, and salesmen find trade very active. Orders are coming in by mail from every section.

Richmond shoe merchants received 4.416 cases of shoes last week, and are shipping them right out every day in large quantities. and who are most willingly paying the

This club had snother of those very enjoyable "Milk-and-Pie" runs Friday evening, and the member who was not there does not know what he missed. These runs, like the club itself, are a pronounced success. One member has become so much enthused he has given vent to his appreciation of a "Milk-and-Pie" run in the following lines:

There's no scheme that is better than this, And a pleasure you can't find amiss, To go out on a "Milk-and-Pie" run And indulge in unparalleled fun.

When a fellow starts out on his wheel, Like a bird out of cage he will feel, As if distance was nothing to him With a good, solid tire on his rim.

Now, a ride is a good appetizer.
And a man may start out none the wiser,
Till he's struck with a gentle reminder.
That he'd better become a food-finder,
And fill up that great aching void.
With which wheelmen are often annoyed.

Then how welcomed that sound, "Milk and Pie"! Oh, how quickly his wheel then will fly! And they all to same spot will hie, Where grim hunger they soon satisfy With incomparably good "Milk and Pie,"
